

AUTISM SUPPORT TEAM - TRAINING

AUTISM AND GIRLS

Aims:

- To develop understanding about autism and females going under the radar.
- To compare your own school/experience with case study examples.
- To develop ability to identify characteristics of girls who might be presenting with social communication differences.
- To extend knowledge of sources of support and resources about autism and girls.

Learning objectives:

- To understand why autism and females have been going under the radar.
- To be able to examine two Southwark case studies and relate it to your own school/experience.
- To be able to identify characteristics which could suggest social communication differences.
- To be able to access sources of support and resources for pupils and staff.

The course will run online through MS Teams with 30 spaces available per training date.
You will need to have attended Making Sense of Autism training prior to attendance.

25/04/24 – 13:00pm - 15:00pm

21/05/24 – 15:00pm – 17:00pm

To register your interest in attending please click on line below:

Register here

